

Key Attributes of Canadian and U.S. Productive Shales: Scale and Variability

Faraj, Basim¹ (1) Talisman Energy Inc., Calgary, AB, Canada.

Shale gas reservoirs have come of age. This class of reservoirs have changed the landscape of gas resources in North America. Gas shales geochemical, mineralogical and textural attributes within a shale gas system approach is needed.

These reservoirs are heavily engineered and understanding scale and variability is needed for continuous production improvement.